Out of This World

SF missionary Laurey Johnson writes that the French day camp (July 21st-25th) was space-themed. Chapel speakers from Child Evangelism Fellowship of Quebec engaged campers with songs, Bible stories, and a story about a Christian astronomer to show how big God is. Laurey writes, “The kids were really engaged with the program and asked great questions about God and His ability to create the universe.” SF's Illuminate Quebec team members, who served at the French camp, were a “breath of fresh air,” demonstrating their passion for reaching the francophone world, love for French, and heart for Jesus. Praise God for all the work He has done through the camp and that seeds planted would bloom and flourish.

Open Hearts in Quebec

Even before an upcoming evangelism outreach in Quebec, God has been working. BLF Director Toe-Blake Roy reports that nearly 30,000 homes in Rimouski, Rivière-du-Loup, and the surrounding communities received invitations to the August 5th-9th event. In response, three residents requested a pastoral visit and 18 requested the book 7 Days with Jesus. Every Home for Christ's Facebook ads for the area generated 325,998 impressions, with a reach of 11,427 users and 491 clicks through their website. Please continue to pray for the two participating churches and for the events to clearly present the Gospel.

"These Kids Need Jesus"

Camp des Îles co-directors Zak and Jaël Kenney express their gratitude for your continued prayers for another week of camp ministry. In answer to prayer, 13 campers—beyond the minimum requirement of 10—signed up for the English day camp last week. The Kenneys praise God for last minute registrations! You can also praise God for...

- Opportunities to offer new campers a positive experience.
- Opportunities to help campers from Christian families better understand the Gospel and grow in discipleship.
- Opportunities to help campers from non-Christian homes understand and respond to the Gospel.
- Staff who had been at camp all summer finishing a full season by God's grace.

Zak and Jaël write, "These kids need Jesus, which is why we do what we do." Please pray the Gospel shared at camp will go forth and take root in hearts.

Magazine Training International. She will present a case study on the creation of the print-on-demand center in Kinshasa, one of SF's strategic partners. While in Colorado, Angela will also speak at an event hosted by SF Videographer Karin Wilcox's mother to help Karin raise support for her ministry with SF. Please pray for God-directed, fruitful networking as like-minded professionals come together to address the opportunities and challenges of publishing for under-resourced countries.

Thank you for entrusting these requests to the Lord!
